Catastrophes are inherently unpredictable. We rarely know where one might strike or have the ability to predict its severity. Even when we have advance warning and time to prepare, the effects of a catastrophe are always devastating.

We have specific procedures and protocols in place to handle all types of catastrophes, whether we have advance warning or not. Our services for clients include:

- Assigning losses promptly based on type and location
- Deploying experienced general adjusters or above for large, complex losses
- Monitoring the number of losses per adjuster to comply with client expectations and ensure quality and efficiency
- Providing weekly diary summaries to ensure first reports are completed within the required period
- Assessing each catastrophe adjuster before and after an event, and providing additional training where needed
- Closing files quickly to reduce loss exposure
